WINS FUJITSU'S IMAGING PRODUCTS GROUP TRIPLE CROWN:

- € RESELLER OF THE YEAR
- € FEDERAL RESELLER OF THE YEAR
- € SERVICE RESELLER OF THE YEAR

FREDERICKSBURG, VA, March 9, 2004 - EDAC Systems, Inc. announced today that Fujitsu Computer Products of America, Inc. (FCPA), a market leader in document imaging scanners and services, has named EDAC its Reseller of the Year, its Government Reseller of the Year and its Service Star Alliance Reseller of the Year for 2003. EDAC, a full-service value added reseller and integrated solution provider offering a complete line of document imaging and document management hardware and software, was presented with the awards during a private ceremony at the AIIM 2004 Exposition and Conference, on Tuesday, March 9, 2004 at the Javits Convention Center in New York City. Blevins are Right –to-Left Don McMahan, FCPA’s Vice president of Sales, Bob Dickerson, FCPA’s Federal Account Manager, and Rusty James, FCPA’s Director of Channel Sales. EDAC received the prestigious Reseller and Government Reseller of the Year awards for achieving the highest overall and government industry scanner sales performance in the United States, and the Service Star Alliance Reseller of the Year award for attaining the greatest services sales performance in 2003. This is the second year in a row for EDAC to earn the government sales award for scanners and the first year to be recognized for performance on the service side of the business.

“EDAC provided the US Army with excellent support during our scanner evaluation phase and scanner deployment for all our Recruiting office around the country,” said Reggie Epperson, Accession Systems Technical Advisor for the U.S. Army Accessions Command (pictured to the left). These awards are well-deserved.”

“Scanners have become essential to document management success in the government sector,” said Ann Blevins, chief operating officer, EDAC Systems. “It’s an honor to receive these awards from Fujitsu. The awards really go to Bill LaPorte, EDAC’s Director of Engineering and Operations and his engineers and Diane Hoppe, Director of Contracts, Purchasing and Administration, and her staff. They and their respective staffs really make EDAC as successful as it is. We are committed to achieving the highest levels of customer service and support in the document imaging industry and Fujitsu products and services are a big part of our success. ”

“We are extremely pleased to name EDAC our 2003 Government Reseller of the Year,” said Rusty James, director of channel sales for the Imaging Products Group, FCPA. “We continue to be impressed with EDAC’s sales and service levels in this rapidly growing sector and are proud that our products and services are leading the way.”

“EDAC has been an important reseller of Fujitsu and continues to remain dedicated and focused on providing top quality service programs to government customers,” said Reza Majidansari, vice president of engineering and customer care, Imaging Products Group, FCPA. “We’re delighted to present the first ever Service Star Alliance Reseller of the Year award to a company that has established one of the most impressive services track records in the government industry with Fujitsu.”
